

Vocational Education at CSDR

Howard H. Rahmlow
Vocational Supervising Teacher

Vocational education and training at the California School for the Deaf at Riverside plays a most vital part in the life of the pupils while at school and for their preparation for a life's work after they leave CSDR. Each older boy and girl receives a minimum of two forty-five minute periods of vocational education daily and many receive as much as four periods of shop training per day.

In working with the boys and girls at CSDR it is the aim of our vocational program to meet the following objectives:

- 1—To guide the pupils into the best possible vocational outlets in keeping with their mental and physical abilities.
- 2—To develop in each pupil the habits of self-reliance, responsibility, and other important work habits that will serve them in good stead regardless of the field of work in which they later find themselves.
- 3—To have each pupil understand his own capabilities and his own limitations so that he can better fit and adjust himself into our industrial society.
- 4—To develop in each pupil as much skill and knowledge in a vocational area or in some cases several areas as his abilities permit to the end that he shall be as employable as possible upon leaving CSDR.

Since it is felt that pupils should not have "all their eggs in one basket" it has been the policy of the vocational department to offer exploratory units of work to all boys and girls in from two to four different shop areas. During these exploratory units the pupils acquire usable skills and knowledges and at the same time learn to know their likes and dislikes as well as their abilities and disabilities. At the same time the vocational staff gains vital information about the pupils which when coupled with testing and conferences between interested parents and the Vocational Supervising Teacher results in a better placement of the pupils in the advanced vocational training program. During the advanced training program the pupils are given as much training in a specific vocational subject as the pupils can take and at the same time they are given valuable related lesson materials in the specific vocabulary, science, mathematics and employment information as may apply to that particular trade.

Our well rounded program includes training in the following areas: art, both beginning and advanced; mechanical drawing; ceramics; general shop; homemaking; bakery; electricity including electronic assembly, small appliance repair, and electric motor repair; spotting and pressing; power sewing; cabinet making and upholstery; general metalwork including auto body repair and painting, all forms of welding and sheetmetal; business arts including typing, business machines, filing and bookkeeping; and printing which takes in hand composition, machine composition, job and automatic presswork and offset lithography.

Although it is not possible for the school to guarantee placement of our graduates in jobs upon completion of their studies here at CSDR every effort is made to assist in such placement. During the spring semester the Vocational Supervising Teacher makes personal visits to the State Employment office and to industries in the home area of each of our graduates to acquaint them with the skills our pupils have to offer and to obtain leads on as many job opportunities as possible. If actual job opportunities exist an attempt is made to place one of our graduates in such positions. In addition to the placement aspect of these personal visits opportunity is also afforded to do some follow-up work on the activities of some of our former pupils and to educate the potential employers as to the adequacy of the deaf worker when properly placed. These visits also make it possible to obtain a current picture of the employment trends in the various communities so that it is possible to better advise our boys and girls in school as to the areas of employment in which training is most likely to result in job placement.

A survey was conducted in March, 1960, in an effort to determine the status of our

Developing Individual Differences

Children vary greatly I.Q. wise, personality wise, in stature and in muscular coordination. We must work with the child as he is regardless of whether he be gifted or not in the above.

This means we cannot force a class or group to progress as a unit if we are to develop each child to his maximum. We must vary the program in keeping with the needs of each individual pupil. Forcing all children to conform to one mold can be deadening to the child. A factory prides itself on its ability to turn out a series of products as near alike as possible. In a school we should pride ourselves in a different way. We don't want a bunch of "odd balls" leaving here, each one determined to go his own way, but we do want creative, self-thinking men and women.

Imagination, vision and foresight have a great bearing on how far one will go in life. These traits are conditioned by enthusiasm, desire for self improvement, optimism and ambition.

As teachers and counselors we should develop the ability to distinguish between the real and the imaginative. However, we should develop the ability to make constructive use of imagination. The student should develop the desire to improve and do things better. We must encourage the child to choose action instead of mere daydreaming. Teach our pupils to look ahead.

How do we develop such a pupil? We must give the child practice distinguishing between the real and the unreal; between facts and dreams. He should learn to distinguish between fact and fiction in literature. Comparing the real object with pictures is good practice. The necessity of hard work vs. wishful thinking in order to achieve goals must be brought out.

We will not achieve these goals by restricting the child's desire to investigate new situations or to proceed to a new learning situation after he has mastered the present one.

It is important in all this to remember that we cannot force the slower learning child to keep up with the faster ones. Forcing him to do such will only lead to frustrations and emotional problems.

It is important also judiciously to divide our time between the ability groups we work with. Most of us tend to devote more time to the slower learning child in an effort to bring him up to the class. In all fairness we should allocate the same amount of time to the faster child. "The brighter you are the more you have to learn." Use your time wisely; use it to the advantage of every child with whom you work.

Armin G. Turechek
Assistant Superintendent

(The above is an excerpt from an address given by Mr. Turechek during an orientation meeting held for staff members in September.)

Parents: Please Note

It is essential that this school at all times have the current address and telephone number of the parents of the children enrolled. Please be sure to inform the Superintendent's Office immediately when any change of address takes place.

We frequently have the experience of a child receiving a package from home or a letter from home with a return address on it that is different from one we have on file. Under these circumstances we do not know whether the family has moved or whether the package or letter was sent from a temporary address.

In any case of emergency we know that the parents would like to be informed immediately. It is impossible to reach parents when we do not have their current address and phone number.

Student Assistance Fund

Recent contributions to the Student Assistance Fund were made by:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cameron and family in memory of Edwin L. Drake.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cameron and family in memory of Gertrude Garvey.

Miss Grace Paxson in memory of Sterling Hutchinson.

School Departments Renamed and Accreditation Study Commenced

The two departments for the older students have been renamed at this school. The Upper School with Mr. C. L. Gover as Supervising Teacher is now entitled the High School. The Intermediate School with Miss Alyce Thomas as Supervising Teacher is now the Junior High School. The two other academic departments keep their old names of Lower School and Elementary School.

This change is also being made at the California School for the Deaf at Berkeley and brings the educational nomenclature in line with current public school practice for pupils of the same ages.

At this school we shall continue to identify individual classes by letters, such as Class A, Class B, Class C, etc., within the individual schools. Such a classification contributes to the flexibility of subject matter and grade level that can be provided for various homogeneous groups. For example, Class F might have seventh grade science, eighth grade social studies, and ninth grade math if this were what the individual class members were ready for.

During this school year our High School is being studied for accreditation by the California Association of Secondary School Administrators. This is a cooperative study in which members of our own staff will be involved as well as a visiting committee from CASSA. This study will take much of the current year and we should know the results of the study by the summer of 1962.

In addition to the above changes, Mr. Armin Turechek is now the Assistant Superintendent of CSDR. Mr. Turechek's former title was that of Principal.

graduates in employment. To that date we had graduated 63 boys and girls. Of that group 43 were employed. The remaining 20 consisted of those girls who had married, pupils who had gone on to Gallaudet and a few who did not return the questionnaires. The areas of employment in which our graduates were employed were: Cabinetmaking-upholstery; electronic assembly; spotting and pressing; several areas of metalworking; commercial bakery; drafting; office work including I.B.M. machine operation, duplicating machine operator, file clerk, typing and payroll clerk; power sewing; printing; trophy engraving and an optical lens grinder.

The Junior Class will have a bazaar on Sunday, November 26, the day of the PTCA meeting. The purpose of the bazaar is to raise money for the class fund.

There will be several booths selling various articles. At one booth will be aprons, dish towels and pot holders which some of the girls made during the summer or are making now. Some of the aprons are Christmasy and make nice gifts. Also on sale will be beautiful nineteen sixty-two picture calendar towels.

At another booth will be home baked goods of cakes, pies, candy and cookies. We hope the Junior Class parents will help us with this.

There will be a White Elephant booth and we already have some nice things for this.

Small pots of plants will be sold at another booth.

Coffee and doughnuts will also be on sale. The doughnuts will be made by the bakery shop students.

Congratulations!

The faculties of the Junior High School and the High School wish to thank their pupils who completed or partially completed their summer homework assignments.

Vocational Palms

Homemaking

The homemaking classes are beginning the year with a study of home furnishings. The girls have learned the basic color harmonies and art rules as well as the different furniture styles. Each is working on some type of accessory for the home. The projects include pillows, waste baskets, Kleenex box covers, picture frames and wall hangings. Some time is spent on the care and use of the variety of cleaning products and equipment available today.

Power Sewing

The students in power sewing are doing work for the Riverside Community Hospital. They are happy to know that by helping others they help themselves. The hospital provides the material and gives the girls the opportunity to learn and practice sewing skills. All the students are doing well in this project.

Offset Lithography Class Helps in Palms Printing

The printing, mailing and local distribution of The Palms is a joint undertaking by four departments in the Vocational School at CSDR. These departments are Business Arts, Letterpress Printing, Commercial Art and Offset Lithography, and are taught respectively by Mrs. Barber, Mr. Lindholm, Mr. Kowalewski and Mr. Fishler.

The Offset Lithography Department prints the cover and most photos with captions that appear in The Palms. The department does all phases of the offset process involved in the printing—camera reproduction of original copy, negative stripping, plate making and press work.

Work on printing the photos begins when Mr. Rahmlow, "the Man With a Camera," brings in the pictures to be printed. These photos are reproduced on black and white negatives in a size to fit The Palms format. This work is done with the shop's vertical Lucikon camera, a photo-engraver's camera which can enlarge or reduce copy to any desired size within limits. In order to maintain in the printing the tonal qualities of the original photo, the image reproduced on the negative is broken into tiny dots with the aid of a finely-grained screen known as a halftone screen. (In the trade anything printed with the aid of a halftone negative is known as a "halftone".) Captions for the photos are set in the letterpress shop on the linotypes and clean proofs of these captions made. The proofs are reproduced in the desired size in the same manner as above except that the halftone screen is not used.

The negatives are then stripped and positioned on a paper "mask" with areas cut out over the image to be printed. This mask is placed over a pre-sensitized metal offset plate in an "exposure frame" and the plate is "burned in" by black tube lights. A special developer is applied to the plate which exposes the area to be printed and at the same time de-sensitizes the non-printing areas. The finished plate is then mounted on the press. This press is a Model 241 Davidson, size 10 by 14, with diagonal feed board. After the necessary number of sheets have been "run off" on the press they are delivered to Mr. Lindholm in the Letterpress Print Shop where they are "collated" or gathered along with the other pages that make up The Palms.

The Offset Department also prints The Palms covers. Art work and "paste-up" is done in the Art Department under Mr. Kowalewski's direction. Printing the covers by the offset process involves a similar sequence of operations as that in printing the photos and captions.

The School Metal Shop

Beginning in the fall of 1960 the metal shop at CSDR has specialized more students in auto body and fender repair and in auto refinishing. Work in this area has increased both from popular demand by the pupils and from the fact that this area of work offers good placement opportunities. Our shop has facilities equal to any small body shop and our methods duplicate as nearly as possible the actual methods followed in the industry. The students work on actual cars (thanks to trusting staff members and our own fleet of state cars) doing all forms of body and fender repairs as well as partial and complete paint jobs. In addition to the actual work the students are learning the necessary related information needed to be successful in this line of work.

September 29 was an important day for all of us in Intermediate School. The name of our department was changed to Junior High School. We are very proud of our new name. The teachers tell us that we must work harder now and do more homework.

We have 135 students in fifteen classes this year. There are 80 boys and 55 girls. We have four students new to CSDR. They are Cheryl Henderson, Kathleen Russell, Jerry Martin and Chuck Idell. One former student, Paul Kronick, returned.

Ralph and Russell Gibbins moved to Kansas during the summer; Burnie Williamson moved to Oregon; and Gregory Decker moved to Nebraska.

This month we want you to meet some of the students in Junior High.

Hawaii, a Land of Paradise

On June 22 my family went to Hawaii by jet. When we arrived at Honolulu, Hawaii, we drove to the White Sands Hotel where we stayed for two weeks.

On Oahu Island we went to Hukilau Village for a Hawaiian lunch of luau. They served different kinds of food which were poi, pineapple spears, combination juice, roasted pig with noodles, raw fish and salad. I liked only the pineapple spears, combination juice and raw fish. Then we watched some girls and boys dance the hula. It was an extremely good program. After that we visited the luxurious Mormon Temple.

We flew to the island of Maui and stayed there for a night. There was a beautiful valley on the island. We drove up a winding road to the top to an extinct volcano. It was cold as a refrigerator.

Next we flew to Kona on the island of Hawaii. We stayed at the King Kamehameba Hotel for two nights. We visited Captain Cook's Monument, an orchid garden which smelled so fragrant, the beautiful Akaka Falls, Hawaii National Park, where there was a volcano which erupted last year, and the Black Sands beach. The black sands on the beach interested me. Our guide saw a coconut on the ground, picked it up and gave it to us. It was so delicious.

Next we flew to Lihue on the island of Kauai. We had a ride down the Wailua River to the Fern Grotto. Our guide took us for a tour and we saw Sleeping Giant Mountain, the Plantation House, the Wet and Dry Caves and Rainbow Falls. That night we returned to Honolulu.

On the island of Oahu we visited many interesting places. One was the Dole pineapple cannery. The pineapples are sorted, washed, cut and canned in one plant. We drank fresh pineapple juice from fountains!

We also visited Pearl Harbor and, of course, we played on Waikiki Beach.

On July 14 we bid farewell to the friends we had made and flew back to the Mainland. We had a wonderful time in Hawaii and we hope we may go back some day.

And Abroad—

My Trip to Europe

In June my parents and I left for a trip to Europe. We visited Greenland, Denmark, Switzerland, Italy, France, Holland, England, Ireland and Scotland. In two months we traveled about 18,000 miles through Europe and the eastern part of the U. S.

Our first stop from Los Angeles was Greenland where we stayed for a few hours. I was surprised that the Eskimos didn't wear parkas! From there we flew over Iceland, Norway and Sweden and landed at Copenhagen, Denmark.

In Denmark we were interested in the many famous palaces, castles and statues. We rented a car and drove through the countryside of Denmark, visiting Kronborg Castle. Imagine in Tivoli Park I saw a woman that smoked a cigar! Another day we bought a beautiful modern Danish desk for my bedroom.

In Switzerland the scenery was beautiful. We went up to Zermatt by electric train to see the Matterhorn, a famous mountain. We also visited one of my friends in Lucerne, Switzerland. In Zurich my father bought a movie camera for me!

In Italy we enjoyed seeing the beautiful old city of Venice. Saint Mark's Square impressed me. Rome was my favorite historical city and I enjoyed St Peter's Church, the Colosseum, Roman Forum and the Arc of Constantine. We visited my relatives about 50 miles from Rome.

In France I thought Paris was the most beautiful city in Europe, and with its many trees it reminded me of Washington, D.C. I went up the Eiffel Tower to get a view of Paris. The Eiffel Tower rises 984 feet.

In Holland we went on a tour of the canals and also downtown Amsterdam.

In England we hired a car and our guide took us to places of interest in London, such as the House of Parliament, Queen Elizabeth's Buckingham Palace, St. Paul's Cathedral and many others.

In Ireland, my favorite country in Europe, we drove through the old farm where my grandfather was born. We also visited relatives in Dublin.

In Glasgow, Scotland, we left Europe for a three week trip through the eastern part of our own country.

When we arrived home after a wonderful trip, it all seemed like a dream.

International Games for the Deaf

When the International Games for the Deaf opened on August 10, about 725 people from 24 countries marched into the stadium where the hearing people had their Olympic Games in 1952. The 102 participants from the U.S. made the largest group. We wore neat blue uniforms.

After the procession, track was the first meet scheduled and then followed other events. Bill and Dick Ramborger, our javelin boys, played against older javelin throwers and lost. Joan Hersh was in the breast-stroke swimming contest and she also lost.

On the second morning I became nervous as I was to play tennis against an English woman. However, I defeated her. In the afternoon my partner, Mary Ann Szilagyi from Wisconsin, who has been playing tennis since she was nine, and I played two women from England for the women's doubles.

The last day after four days of playing Mary Ann was champion in the women's singles and I was fourth. We received silver medals for coming out second in the women's doubles. Our country came out second in all the sports and Russia was first. We had a wonderful time, one that I'll never forget.

The Alps and Switzerland

After an exciting time at the International Games for the Deaf in Helsinki, Finland, there were several group tours through Europe. My group toured eight countries. The country I liked best was Switzerland.

Our bus took us through the Bavarian Alps to Innsbruck, Austria; then to Imst, a very small village, where we stayed overnight. We next went through a valley among the Alps, through the tiny country of Liechtenstein, and then I was excited in entering Switzerland. The air was so fresh. We stayed at beautiful Lucerne for two days.

The first night some of us just walked around the city and its narrow streets and we were fascinated. The next day we walked through the ancient 14th century covered wooden bridge which had historic pictures inside. We visited two museums and the famous lion statue. There were many jewelry stores on a narrow street. Dick and I each bought a watch. Some in my group rode a cable car to the top of Mount Pilatus overlooking Lucerne.

The next day we left Lucerne for Geneva and the ride through the Alps was impressive. We stopped at Bern, the capital of Switzerland, for lunch and then visited the bear zoo. Bern means Bear. After traveling by steamer across Lake Geneva for four hours, we arrived at Geneva where we stayed for one day. Some boys and I walked around the fountain on Lake Geneva. It was so big! We also saw the famous building of the League of Nations. The next day we left Switzerland for Paris, France.

The Planet Mars

Scientists know much more about Mars than Venus because Mars is nearer than Venus. Scientists looking through a telescope see that the surface of Mars is a dull red color with a large spot of dark green and brown. The surface of Mars has white caps at the north and south poles. Many scientists presume that the dark spots are seas and the white caps are very thick snow, but some scientists think that the white caps are thick clouds. They have no proof.

Mars is 4,200 miles in diameter and has one moon more than our earth. Our earth has only one moon. Mars is smaller than the earth and it has less gravity than the earth. The scientists presume that Mars has some oxygen, but not enough for people. Most of Mars is a desert. At the equator of Mars it is 50 or 60 degrees in the middle of the day. At night it is perhaps more than 100 degrees below zero. It takes Mars about 687 days to go around the sun. It is about 142 million miles from the sun to Mars.

Phew!

During the past few weeks of school everyone passing the high school department's science laboratory has complained of an annoying and pungent odor in the air. With their noses clamped tightly shut, the pupils of the chemistry classes have been experimenting with carbon disulfide which evaporates quickly and spreads its terrible odor for yards around.

We are experimenting with carbon disulfide to see if it will dissolve a mixture of iron filings and sulfur. After shaking a test tube containing iron filings, sulfur and carbon disulfide, we can watch the sulfur dissolve while the iron filings do not. This way we learn how to recognize a mixture and separate its elements.

The Senior Class

The Class of 1962 has been having weekly meetings and discussing the many Senior activities. They had their pictures taken on October 3. These pictures will appear in the yearbook. The major project of the class is the preparation and editing of the yearbook, The Scarlet and Gray. Work has been in progress, but the yearbook staff will be quite busy most of the year. Tom Utley is the editor and will be assisted by Ruben Macias, Jill Sandusky, Betty Lou Roberts, Joyce Stermolle, Susan Courtney and others in the class.

At the election of the class officers the following were elected: William Ramborger, president; Emanuel Gongaware, vice-president; Cynthia Jandle, secretary; and Frank Bobitch, treasurer.

Cynthia Jandle

Junior Class

The Junior Class is now in full swing. Last spring we took over the selling of candy at recess time and to get started, we borrowed some money from the Class of 1962.

At our first meeting this fall we elected the following officers:

President—Chris Hunter
Vice President—Chris Walters
Secretary—Francine Lauer
Treasurer—Billy Wales

This Class of 1963 is an unusually large one with forty-seven members at present.

To raise money for our class fund, we are selling concessions on different parts of the campus and at our home games. We will also help sell concessions at the Riverside City College home games. We are now planning a bazaar to be held in the Social Hall on November 26.

Our hard-working and helpful sponsors are Mrs. Turechek, Mr. McGarry and Miss Musmanno.

Random Notes

The Upper School no longer exists and in its place we have CSDR High School. Everybody happy?

We would like to extend a warm welcome to the new students in our department. Henry Chen, Hilda Silva, Sharon Lyman, Bobby Hawthorne, Raul Pineda and Pat Parsley.

The first night back at school many students had a difficult time going to sleep early because of the late hours they kept at home. Now, we bet, they can hardly keep their eyes open after 10:30.

How many of you can beat this? Bill Ramborger had a full summer, going to the Olympics for the Deaf in Helsinki, Finland, and taking a tour through Europe; yet he completed all of the summer work given him by the teachers? Hats off to you, Bill!

The students filled their summer with various entertainment, too numerous to mention here, but in a nutshell many did the following: swimming at the beaches, traveling in different parts of our country, skin diving, camping, surf riding, fishing or having a job.

Nancy Price and Pat Bybee spent two weeks at Camp Paivika this summer. They had a wonderful time. Gail Alvarez and Gary Cruz were there, too.

Clair Benham went to Nevada, Idaho and Oregon. He stayed with his grandparents in Idaho for one and one-half months. He worked on the farm and went fishing.

Larry Stillwell and his family went to Sterling, Oklahoma, to visit Larry's uncle.

Monty Hall and his family went to northern California and Oregon. He had fun fishing.

In July Sue Dymond went with friends to Tennessee. It was her first trip there and she enjoyed it very much.

Robert Barron went to Utah. He worked and went fishing.

Irene Acevedo went camping in the mountains for the first time. She had a wonderful time.

John Smithson went camping with Dan Golden and his family.

Sandra Thompson went to Sacramento, California and to Usk, Washington. She saw the State Capitol in Sacramento. She visited her grandmother in Usk.

Beverly Osborn went to Nevada, northern California and Oregon. On her way home she was so surprised to see Margie Gathercole at the Eternal Tree House at Redcrest on Highway 101. She had a nice visit with Margie.

Joyce Bates and her family went to Oregon and Washington. They had a good time.

Mary Jane Nelson and her family went to Nebraska to see Mary Jane's grandparents.

Henry Chen, a new boy in our school, left China three years ago.

Mary Ellen Grandfield was elected a queen of the DeMolays this summer.

Bonnie Witsman visited relatives in Ohio and Wisconsin last summer.

Frank Scolaro visited in San Francisco. Why are you so sad, Frank?

Greg Brown went fishing in Idaho and lost "the big one."

Eduardo Perdomo visited Berkeley and met Dr. Schunhoff.

Mike Hagar caught a ball at a baseball game. Gil Hodges of the Dodgers hit a ball out to where Mike was sitting and luckily Mike caught it. Mike got the ball autographed.

Karl Herkelrath had some good Mexican food in Mexico City.

Mercy Acuna saw Jayne Mansfield in person and got her autograph.

Mike Golightly visited with Joe Rafferty. Mike was a student at CSDR a few years ago.

Pattie Davis and Jerriann Welch got their driver's licenses this summer.

Sports Events

Sports Flashes

1961-62 sports have begun; this is CSDR's ninth year. Let us make it the best sports year of all. Two new coaches are with the Physical Education Department this year: Mr. Lanzi will be Head Football Coach, "B" Basketball Coach and Baseball Coach; Mr. Taylor will be Junior Varsity Football Coach. Mr. Thornton, starting his ninth year at CSDR, will be Assistant Football Coach, "A" Basketball Coach and Track Coach. All three coaches will be trying hard to match the envious record of Coaches Emerick and Convery who have established outstanding records with their girls' volleyball teams.

Good news! CSDR now has a JV Football Team. Two games have been scheduled at this time. It is hoped that one or two more games can be picked up. Mr. Taylor, JV Coach, is much pleased with the spirit and enthusiasm displayed with his new group.

Girls' Physical Education

The Physical Education program for girls attending the California School for the Deaf, Riverside, seeks to bring about the well-balanced physical and social development of all girls so that they may be better prepared to take their places as responsible citizens in our society.

The following activities are taught in the curriculum:

Badminton
Folk dancing
Shuffleboard
Swimming
Tennis
Tumbling

Volley-tennis
Basketball
Bowlite
Softball
Table tennis
Trampoline

Instruction is also given in body mechanics and leadership.

The girls have extra-curricular activities also. These activities include: Girls' Athletic Association, Senior Volleyball Team, Basketball Team, Girls' Recreation Club, Junior Volleyball Team and Tumbling Team.

The Girls' Athletic Association gives every girl in High School a chance to participate in the sports they have learned in class in a competitive situation among their own classmates.

The Senior Volleyball and Basketball Team membership is open to each girl in High School. The teams compete in the City of Riverside Recreation League.

The Girls' Recreation Club gives the girls in Junior High School an opportunity to have extracurricula activities.

The Junior Volleyball Team members are chosen from G.R.C. This group plays in the Riverside Recreation League also.

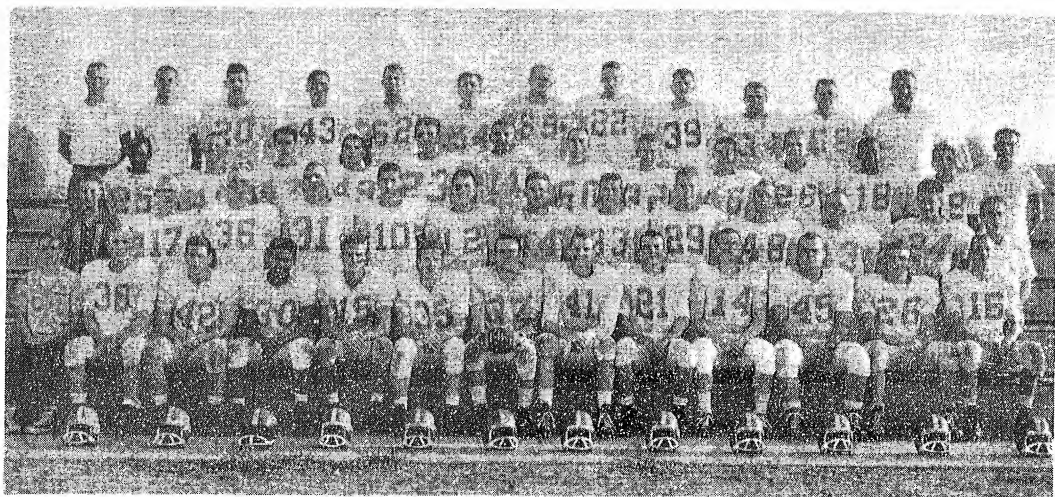

Tumbling participants include about fifty boys and girls. They are chosen from the Elementary, Junior High and High Schools. An annual tumbling exhibition is presented by this group.

Welcome, Coach Lanzi! There are forty-five football aspirants practicing vigorously in preparation for the first game of the season with Twin Pines. All are highly hopeful that they can bring our new football coach a victory in his first game at CSDR. At the present time Mr. Lanzi, a veteran of thirteen years experience in high school coaching, has been greatly pleased with the team hustle.

Another pleasing note is the show of depth. Second team members, nearly equal in ability, are pushing hard to replace the first stringers. Our coaches have been perplexed in deciding which boys were to get starting berths.

The phenomenal growth of school spirit and sportsmanship is reflected by the large number of boys trying out for the football teams. Fifty percent of our eligible boys are now out for some varsity team. This compares with an average of sixteen percent. That is normal for a public high school. This speaks well for our boys' desire, determination and spirit to perform on the football field against hearing boys of equal age and ability.

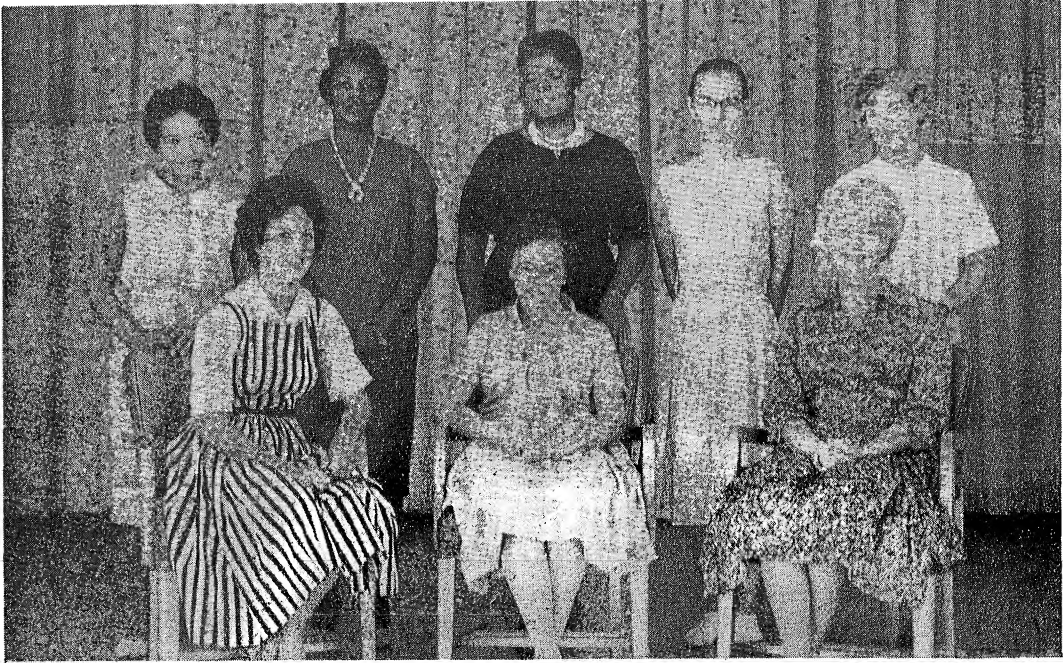

Coach Lanzi has optimistically forecast a winning season, and, if the breaks go right, perhaps a championship.

Since players of the first and second team, have proven so equal in ability, we would like to announce the two teams at the same time:

Lassen I

Lassen I does not have any boys new to our school this year.

We welcome Paul Kronick back after being out for more than a year. He has grown to be a big boy, as have most all of our boys big enough to play football on the school teams. We are proud of Harvey Bradley, Stephen Strange and Daniel Marquez for making the team.

Intramural sports began September 25. Keen interest is shown by all the boys as they compete with boys of Palomar I, II and III for high scores. Flag football was the first game played.

The boys in Lassen I are nearer the same age than ever before. All were born in 1946 and 1947. They are all in Junior High School.

The following boys are old timers because they came to our school in 1953 as the baby class: Jack Lamberton, David Cisneros, Keith Gamache and Tommy Parker. We wonder how many boys and girls are still here who came in 1953?

Beverly Mason wrote a day-by-day diary about her home life.

Shasta II is happy to welcome Joyce Bates, Susan Bell, Sandra Butler, Yvonne Hunt, Beverly Mason, Pat Moran, Froetta Nelson, Mary Jane Nelson, Beverly Osborn, June Phillips, Nancy Price, Sandra Thompson, Sylvia Acosta and Sharon Lyman. Hilda Silva has come from Hawaii to attend CSDR and to live in our dorm.

Shasta III

Cheryl Henderson, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. William J. Henderson of Torrance, enrolled in our dormitory as a new student.

Sue Jacobs flew to Tennessee with her mother in June to be maid of honor at her cousin's wedding. They flew to Philadelphia to visit with her girl friend. Sue likes to fly by jet very much.

Sheryl Crawford and family drove north to visit San Francisco and Portland. Nancy Burrell and family traveled the same way, going on to Yosemite Park.

Nona Stratemeyer and her family went on a three-week trip to northern California. They took their tear-drop trailer and camped one week at Lake Tahoe.

Shasta IV

Shasta IV is happy to welcome sixteen girls into our dorm from Rubidoux III. We are also very happy to welcome Kathleen Russell. She is new to CDSR. She lives in Garden Grove and formerly attended Hyde Park and Madison Schools.

The girls had a wonderful summer and did many interesting things. Patsy and Kathy Carlsen went to Iowa by train to spend the summer with an aunt, uncle and three cousins. They went many places and had a wonderful time but they didn't like the "mixed up weather." It was stormy, windy and rainy. In August their mother and brother drove to Iowa in a new car. They stayed three weeks and then they all returned to California together.

Sharon Nunn and her family had an enjoyable trip to New China Town in Los Angeles. She saw a Buddha and many lovely Chinese clothes. Her mother promised her a Chinese dress sometime but for now she had to settle for a very cute set of "kissing dolls."

Palomar I

Palomar I begins its new school year with twenty-six seniors and six juniors. With so large a group of near-graduates within our dorm, we are hoping to set the best example of good behavior, scholastic achievements and fine sportsmanship for the "youngsters" in the other dorms.

Though we lost Mrs. Parsons to Rubidoux I, we are happy to welcome Mrs. Doty as our new counselor. We hope she will be happy with us. Also welcome to Pat Parsley who came to us from North Hollywood.

Don McCary is "living in" this year. Glad to have you, Don.

It seems most of the boys took "vacation" literally. Only a few report having worked during the summer. Butch Gongaware was employed by a construction company; David Dobrovec at Gelsen's Market; Tom Utey worked at The First State Bank of Lynwood; and Tom Henes worked for Brown's Engine Rebuilding Company. He says he learned much about engines.

Palomar II

Dick Ramborger and his brother, Bill, had a wonderful and educational experience last summer when they went to Helsinki, Finland, to participate in the Deaf Olympics. Both boys did well in javelin-throwing. They hope that they can go to Maryland for the Olympics in 1965.

For one whole month last summer Earl Hafer, his family and a friend went to the western part of Canada and camped, fished and looked around for some land to buy. To Earl's disappointment he did not see any bears. Anyway, Earl enjoyed the trip tremendously.

Bobby Hawthorne is a new boy in Palomar II this year and we are happy to have him with us.

Bobby Skedsmo and his father motored through eight states and seven national parks for two weeks last summer. Bobby liked Mt. Rainier best of all because he thought it was the most beautiful mountain he had ever seen. He hiked about 1000 feet up the mountain and was thrilled to see the great glaciers on it.

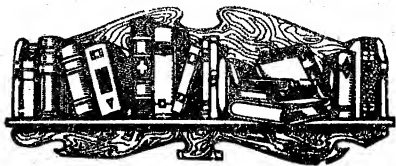

Palomar III

Palomar III welcomes Henry Chen and Raul Pineda who are new to CSDR. Henry Chen is from Hong Kong but has been in the United States for two years. Raul Pineda came to the United States from Mexico three years ago. Both boys seem happy to be in a residential school.

Ernesto Murillo spent all summer picking fruit and potatoes in three different cities. The last part of the summer, he worked in Fresno picking grapes.

Jay Shopshire went to Sacramento and the Bay Area with his father and a friend for a few days. He visited the Berkeley School for the Deaf and took some sight-seeing trips in San Francisco.

The Book Shelf

High School — Reading

Judging from the book reports handed in after summer vacation quite a few of the students in Mr. Blea's reading classes enjoyed themselves with "their very best friends —books."

Ben-Hur by Lew Wallace, and The Time Machine by H. G. Wells were two popular favorites. (Did you read the book and see the movie or vice versa?)

John Darby read Ben-Hur and First to Ride, both of which he thought were very good. Chris Hunter read Short Stories of H. G. Wells, The Old Man of The Sea by Ernest Hemingway and The Adventures Of Huckleberry Finn by Mark Twain. Chris Walters read four books: Island Boy, Helen Keller, The Time Machine and Oliver Twist. His opinion of the stories ranged from "very good" to "very excellent." Francine Lauer read An Episode of Sparrows by Rumor Godden and Paul De Kruij's Microbe Hunters. Ruben Macias' reading of Girl Trouble by James L. Summers was evaluated as "good." Sue Cameron read The Prince and the Pauper by Mark Twain, Black Beauty by Anna Sewell, Captains Courageous by Rudyard Kipling, The Life Of Helen Keller, Gidget Goes Hawaiian, The Life Of Paul Revere, and her hometown paper everyday. Tom Utley had a profitable summer—nine books! These were The Jack Dempsey Story, Jack London, Magnet For Adventure, The F.B.I., The Thinking Machine, The Babe and I, The Story Of D Day, Tom Sawyer, The Story Of Charles Dickens, and Franka.

How about YOU? Can you match these records for reading? What books have YOU read?

Next month we'll bring you some of the resumes of these stories - but why wait? Go to your library, get the books, read them and see if your opinions will match these experts.

Junior High — Book Report

BEN-HUR

Setting: Time: Ancient

Place: Israel

Characters: Ben-Hur

Messala

Malluch

Simmonides

Sheik Ilderim

Arrius

This is the most wonderful and exciting story I have ever read.

At the beginning Ben-Hur lost his friendship with his boyhood friend Messala.

Messala destroyed Ben-Hur's father's home and took his mother and sister. He made Ben-Hur a galley slave for three years.

In a battle between the Romans and the pirates, Ben-Hur saved Arrius' life. Arrius adopted Ben-Hur. So Ben-Hur went back to Jerusalem to look for his mother and sister. Finally he found them ill with a dangerous disease.

There was an exciting chariot race in Antioch and Ben-Hur beat his hated former friend Messala.

I shall never forget this wonderful story.
